

Xiangyue Zhang's Homepage Design Document

Project Description:

A personal website that showcases my skills, experiences, and hobbies. The site aims to serve as a professional online portfolio and a platform to share personal stories and insights.

User Personas and Stories:

Recruiter Rachel: Rachel is a tech recruiter looking for potential candidates for software and web development roles.

- User story: I want to see a clear, concise professional summary so I can quickly determine if Xiangyue is a good fit for our company.

Client Fiona: Fiona runs a small business and needs someone to revamp her website. She's looking for a trustworthy developer with a proven track record and personal touch.

- User story: I want to quickly find contact details to reach out for potential collaboration.

Student Sam: Sam is a computer science student looking for inspiration and guidance. He's on the lookout for successful developers and their journeys to learn from their experiences.

- User story: I want to read insights to understand Xiangyue's journey and gain inspiration, and also be able to quickly find her GitHub or other public code repositories so I can view and learn from real-world projects.
